Free Online Training for Human Services Board Members

Relias makes it easier to onboard and train new board members, improve alignment with your executive team, and facilitate board member understanding of the organization and the community it serves. We are proud to offer access to nine free board member training courses to all Relias health and human services clients.

Unlimited access allows board members to enroll in courses immediately and choose the topics they need. Additionally, the online learning management system (LMS) allows 24/7 access, allowing board members to complete training when it fits into their busy schedules.

With regulations like HRSA and CCBHC regarding board governance and composition, educating your board on the community you serve is not just a key component of a successful board, but it also may be required by funding sources.

Improved board/executive team alignment and board member education are important now and essential for future success in today's healthcare environment.

Courses cover topics related to evidence-based practices, treatment models, and populations served.
